A pioneering new artist, Faye Patton's new CD Going Solo features luminous, soaring female vocals with massive blues/jazz register, self-accompanied by finger-licking gospelly piano witchery/wizardry...all original songwriting. 11 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Vocals, BLUES: Jazzy Blues Details: Faye Patton - this artist is a singer/songwriter and multi-instrumentalist whose original songs combine jazz, funk, folk, blues and classical influences. Gutsy, fluid vocals that flex and stretch across registers accompanied, often live, by funky, bluesy piano arrangements. Major influences are Ray Charles, Scott Joplin, Junior Mance, Tori Amos and Rachelle Ferrell. Faye has been gigging regularly in and around the underbelly of the London music scene, with and without her band, talented session musicians from gospel group Revelation. Venues include: The Vortex Jazz Club (in its old and new incarnations) The Kashmir Klub (host to many international music stars, including Sheryl Crow), The Cobden Club, Ocean, The Spitz, The Union Chapel, WANC Cafe, Club Wotever, The Living Room, Pizza on the Park, Nambucca, Ruby Blue, Marie Lloyd Bar, Deal Real Records (Female Allstars) The Biddle Brothers Bar and Stratford Theatre Royal East. She has also performed in the small but prestigious Jazznacht festival in Donaueschingen, Southern Germany. This unique recording consists of 11 new tracks which showcase the unique chemistry of piano and voice that is the hallmark Faye Patton sound at its rawest. Ranging from classic jazz balladry to fingerdefying blues/gospel basslines, this is an entirely original collection. Recorded at Overtones, Holborn, London, the actual grand piano featured on this CD, is once again courtesy of Katia Labeque (virtuoso classical/jazz pianist recently featured in Madonna's film 'I'm Going to Tell You A Secret') REVIEW! GOING SOLO BY FAYE PATTON "Eleven songs written and performed by Faye Patton on vocals and piano. She writes really good hooks, not just on the voice but in her piano parts too, so its just all there in your head days later. Faye won my heart years ago with her line Theres a woman on the tracks and Im going to lay down by her side. That spirit of empathy is alive as ever in I Know thePrisoner. This new collection sees Faye laying down her piano grooves as solid gold as ever with richer chords than formerly, and some intricate classically inspired excursions. With warmth, soul, delicacy and an impeccable sense of technique and tuning, she patiently unfolds her stories, from the heart rending A Foolish Fool to the humourous Darling I do. Season for Everything could be a classic jazz blues gem." (Reviewer Jazz Singer Sue McCreeth)
