"billy" martin owner and founder of martin music llc, our dream catcher publishing and our dream maker recordings, born in the hills of appalachia of good hardworking parents who believed that when you're raised up working with your hands you quickly learn that there is a song equal to every good work. the melodies that created the best rhythm for their labors came from memories of tent show revivals, country churches, one room school houses, county road gangs, and the crystal radio you made in school shop class and hooked up to the battery in your daddy's old pickup. in addition to helping people with their work these melodies contained the essences of the people's hopes and fears, reflected in the songs and lyrics written and played upon simple instruments, many homemade or hand--me--downs, which were played at informal gatherings, where two or more families would join together to celebrate the giving and living of life. the sharing of their work and life experiences through their music formed bonds of brotherhood that were forged over long years of hardship and happiness and built an interdependency of unbelievable strength and resiliency. it is from these roots that billy martin brings to you the music that he has written as his way of honoring the memory of those he has known and loved and perhaps convey to us all a feeling for the richness of the human spirit as granted by our gracious and loving heavenly father.....amen
