Details: A young and talented emerging singer/songwriter with a captivating presence and charisma, David Joseph wins over the hearts of audiences across the board. David's combination of heartfelt lyrics, infectious melodies, smooth vocals, and passionate songwriting is an equation for success. Throw in his passion, desire, and love of music, and you have an undeniable star. David jump started his career in 2004 when he was crowned Connecticut's Next Rising Star on Connecticut's KC101's Radio Star competition. David was then entered in the national competition and was aired on radio stations across the country including New York's Z100. This memorable experience provided tremendous exposure for David and only left him driven for more. Since then, David has focused heavily on honing his skills as a songwriter and performer David has spent much of his time recording in studios throughout New York City for the release of his debut album Wherever I Go. In addition to working in the studio, David has toured all across the New England and Tri-State areas both acoustically and with his band, playing large venues, small venues, and numerous college campuses. David has developed a distinguished sound that is acoustic based with a strong pop/rock influence. His songwriting and vocals are most often compared to the likes of Rob Thomas, Josh Kelley, and John Mayer. Over the past few years David has developed as an all-around performer gathering a loyal fan base and making a name for himself in today's music scene.
