Jazz Fusion 10 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Fusion, JAZZ: Traditional Jazz Combo Face Prize Songs Details: The debut recording from the Russian born pianist of his soulful intermingle of blues, jazz and fusion innovations. Akopov is a Russian born composer who began definitive soft at 7, at 15 coupled the Moscow Jazz Studio and by 17 had participated in his foremost jazz festival. Now 28 and living in Los Angeles, Akopov heads the quartet "Kroog" and has played with various jazz artists. A intermingle of acoustic and fusion jazz Akopov is very talented and holds a degree from UCLA in film scoring. The song "Spirited Child's Play" is exactly what Akopov makes playing the soft sound like. A warm and harmonic musician we can expect only greater things from this young composer. Allen Morales, Victory Review A Russian born pianist, Andrew Akopov moved to the United States in the early '90s and shows on this impressive CD that he is a world-class improviser. Akopov composed and arranged all ten selections on this CD, music that can be considered post-bop. Gary Meek, on tenor, soprano and flute, is sometimes a little reminiscent of Ernie Watts, playing with intensity and strong control over his horn. Also on this challenging yet fairly accessible set are bassist Dave Carpenter, drummer Dick Weller, and (on "Prince and Princess Principle") trumpeter Dmitri Mamokhin. A fine effort. Scott Yanow, All Music Guide
