One year. 365 songs." May, 2007. As the weather warms, Beatnik Turtle is still in the studio continuing their challenge to release 365 songs in one year. May contains the next 31 tracks that would make up 1/12 of Beatnik Turtle's output for 2007. With 365 slots to fill up, Beatnik Turtle cranked the creativity knob to "11" and filled the month with geek pop-rock goodness covering everything from nudity ("I've No Pants") to cicada infestations ("King Of Cicada") and everything in between. More highlights from May include: "Dave, Where Are You Dave?" - an auditory exploration of the musical styles of the late 1960s, pondering the cosmic question of the whereabouts of Dave. "Take It Down" - a plea for the neighbors to take down their Christmas decorations already. "The C-Word" - a song about exactly what you think it's about...caution: explicit lyrics here. "Old People" - a plaintive ballad about caring for the aged (and fighting the desire to run the slow bastards over). "But That's Another Thing I'll Never Do" - a Paul McCartneyesque acoustic number about all the things we never get around to doing. And many, many more. Collect all 12 albums and enjoy Beatnik Turtle's amazingly rich and creative year of song-writing. ____ For more information about Beatnik Turtle (including free music!), visit beatnikturtleor thesongoftheday.com People who are interested in The Beatles Fountains of Wayne They Might Be Giants should consider this download.
