Unfortunately, "out of the ordinary" and "special" are not terms commonly used in the genre of rap. Love it or hate it, Hybrid Risk Records is original, untamed and ready to take great strides in the industry with-in the next couple of years. Every artist seems to claim they are "the one". Some might ask, what makes this label so different than others? The main reason is the collaboration between Cryonic Sun and his manager/friend, Andrew Lay. This team is trying to make a name for themselves in a town that has no history in the rap game. The amount of songs they have under their belt, as the group Truology, is very impressive totaling well over two hundred songs. Six underground releases were distributed by hand through out the Tri-City area. This helped to smooth out all the kinks in marketing and helped to define their current sound. Now it's 2006 and things are a lot different than they were 10 years ago. The most important thing would be the decade of experience they have accumulated and the wealth of knowledge they have gained from trial and error. Many groups quit before reaching five years while some thrive in adversity and rise to greatness. Cryonic Sun is currently the premier artist and producer for Hybrid Risk. He was formerly known as, "Skandelic". He is notorious for the unnerving instrumentals he produces and the stand out verses on songs he performs on. It was only inevitable for a solo record to be released considering the fact that he is both a very talented producer and artist. His recently completed album "Never Fall" is due for release early March 06' and is sure to be a favorite to many avid rap fans. His upbringing and experiences gives him the fuel he needs to sculpt vivid soundscapes with entertaining lyrics that will leave listeners wanting more. He enjoys speaking about day to day life whether it consist of problems and stress from working two jobs while running a business or frustration from the law when it comes to other aspects in life. His stance on marijuana law will become obvious when you hear the song "Let Me Smoke". It will be clear upon listening to this album that it is much more than your average pieced together release with a lot of filler tracks. Cryonic Sun is unsigned.
