The dance funk album of today. 13 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, ELECTRONIC: Dance Details: Flow's fourth album JAWBREAKER has already received some great exposure as it was selected to be in the GLAAD 19th Annual Award Show VIP gift bag. Elaine Hendrix (Parent Trap/What The Bleep Do We Know) is producing two upcoming benefits, In Defense of Animals and The Pet Care Foundation. JAWBREAKER is also a part of that VIP gift bag. Last week, Life is too short won "Runner Up" in Song of the Year Contest. The lyrics in this piece were well written and express good emotion through out the material. The music had a great sound and did a nice job at setting the overall tone and mood of the song. The placement of the chorus and the phrasing work as an unforgettable hook. Wonderful choice for the title, it is relative and original. -Song of the Year Contest This album is top 40 with dance tracks, inspirational songs and a couple of slow jams. Flow has produced and written her strongest work to date, JAWBREAKER. Flow started as a go-go dancer in New York City nightclubs like Limelight and Mars. The energy of the music inspired Flow to write her first song "Open". Open made its national debut on one of MTV's top shows, Meet the Barkers, starring Travis Barker from Blink 182. Just Friends, also from Flow's first album SNAPPED, can be heard on the extremely successful MTV series Pimp My Ride. LOVE STRONG, Flow's second album wasn't far behind. Do Better was selected for the compilation CD Protest Songs for a Better World. And Dance Re-Mix is the top selling single to date. Flow's musical style is Gritty Funk with a Hip Hop/Soul influence. As the producer, writer and performer, she is fearless about her approach to music. It's my chance to say exactly what I want; complete freedom to express myself. Some of Flow's tunes are raw and in your face while others are reflective, and express deeper feelings about love and relationships. NAKED, Flow's third album, is a groundbreaking sound for today's popular audience. Before it's officially been released, NAKED has received major attention. This Beat Goes On Club Mix is making its debut on The Evidence, an ABC primetime show. Billboard Magazine has awarded two of Flows songs, My Song and Take It Off, the Honorable Mention Award.
