

Mp3 O'malley's March - The Boys March At Dawn

DOWNLOAD HERE

Rocked Up and Funky Celtic Music. 11 MP3 Songs WORLD: Celtic, ROCK: Folk Rock Details: Martin O'Malley vocals, acoustic guitar Paul Levin uilleann pipes, wooden flute, whistle Bob Baum base guitar, vocals Jamie Wilson drums, vocals Ralph Reinoldi electric guitar, mandolin, cittern Jared Denhard harp, trombone, highland pipes Special Guest Musicians Dominick Murray vocals on "Baltimore" John Grant organ on "Yes Sister" Toni Correlli keyboard on "Clonbur", "Shannon" Danny Costello vocals on "Yes Sister" "Farewell Clonbur" words and music by Martin O'Malley 2002. All rights reserved. "Lughnasa" by Jared Denhard (based on "The Chanter") features musicians Maureen McCusker, flute tenor saxophone' Chris Hofer, acoustic Bass; Mark St. Piere, percussion. From , percussion. From "Songs of Innocence" Millwheel Music 2001. All rights reserved. "Yes, Sister" words and music by Danny Costello 2000. All rights reserved. "Broad Majestic Shannon" by Shane McGowan, Pogue Music Ltd./Perfect Songs Ltd. 1988 Warner Music UK Ltd. "In Praise of the City of Baltimore" words and music by Terence P. Winch 1985. All rights reserved. Produced by O'Malley's March 2002. All rights reserved. Recorded, mixed and mastered by John Grant at Secret Sound Studios, Baltimore, Maryland, 2002. Indoor performance photography: Jefferson J. Steele Outdoor candid photography: Cathey Allison, Tony White, John Beck. Manufactured and printed by Disc Makers, Pennsauken, NJ, USA. Unauthorized reproduction or recording prohibited. 1997 O'Malley's March. All rights reserved. Unauthorized reproduction or recording prohibited. SOME LYRICS: Farewell Clonbur (lyrics music by Martin O'Malley) Farewell Clonbur, your green valleys and your streams your lake isles and your mountains where I have lately been. May the kindness of your people like your gentle peace endure. Farewell, farewell, farewell Sweet Clonbur In a world more full of sorrows than you can understand theres a place where all your worries are eased by Gods great hand. Where the journey of a lifetime is a short road from the shore to the ancient lake isle

castle that guards the rising past To sweet Clonbur In the quiet of the evening as the sunset paints the sky take a walk down by her mild ports repeat then wonder why if truth, and love, and beauty are the things that will endure why do I morn to leave a while the friends and soft green hills Of sweet Clonbur Farewell Clonbur your green valleys and your streams your lake isles and your mountains where I have lately been. May the kindness of your people like your gentle peace endure farewell, farewell, farewell Sweet Clonbur Martin O'Malley The song was written after its author visited the hometown of his Irish heritage, Clonbur. "This quiet village, near Cong and the Mayo border, is an ideal centre for the trout angler as it nestles easily between the two great lakes of Corrib and Mast. For the more adventurous, Mount Gable lies just 2 km to the West, and is an easy climb of about one hour's duration. The effort is worthwhile because the views of Lough Corrib stretching away to the south, Lough Mask to the north and the Connemara mountains to the west are simply stupendous." galway.goireland.com

DOWNLOAD HERE

Similar manuals: