Bedhead meets Pavement meets Big Star. Depressing or hopeful, depending on when you listen. 6 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Modern Country, ROCK: Americana Details: Pleasant Grove, named after an east of Dallas suburb, consists of co-guitarists and co-vocalists Brett Egner and Marcus Striplin, drummer Jeff Ryan, bassist Tony Hormillosa, Chuck Kyukendall on horns and Joe Butcher (formerly of UFOFU) on steel guitar and keyboards. "One of the most compelling records of the year, songs of broken hearts and broken voices, the sound of someone picking himself up off the floor, hoping he won't fall down again, and knowing he will." Dallas Observer Pleasant Grove's live performances are known for being subtle, thoughtful, full of melody and restraint. Their sound combines elements of Bedhead and Pavement while having a sound all their own. "Shimmering majestic pop or lethargic country music. Take your pick. Slow and tranquilizing but not hushed and quiet, Pleasant Grove's brokenhearted epics are full of emotional potency (and eccentricity) full of sonic depths and textures." AllMusic.Com
