Details: Redpath is a dynamic trio of sisters from Minnesota who have been singing together for more years than most people can count and all three agree that they are much better together than they are apart. As the oldest of the three at 24, Lauren embodies the quintessential girl next-door persona. Her warmth, compassion and storytelling heart is effortlessly demonstrated in their music as she writes Redpaths songs. Torie, age 22, is the sassy sophisticated one that keeps Redpaths style both trendy and classy. Ali is the youngest at 21, but her intelligence, elegance, and strong-will prevent her from ever being labeled the baby. Performing isnt new to the ladies of Redpath. Lauren grew up singing in the church, released two CDs prior to Redpath and has been paid to sing since the age of five and Torie has sung in various groups since she was a teenager. But something changed a few months ago when Ali finishing her college degree and the dream of singing as sisters became a reality. Influenced by the sounds of The Eagles, Shania Twain, and Allison Krauss Redpath hopes to tell stories of everyday lives in their music, ones with heartbreak, hope, humor, and beauty. Lauren writes from her own experiences and those of close friends. I want the songs to be about authentic, everyday experiences that people can relate to. Lauren describes Redpaths country/pop sound, We arent from the South so we obviously dont have accents. Lauren also goes on to say that the sisters love country instruments like the fiddle, mandolin, and banjo. She further explains, You dont have to be from the South to sing country. And the ladies of Redpath definitely prove that to be true in their first single, Let Go.
