"Discover The Secret "Talking Website" Strategy That Sucks The Cash Right Out Of Your Visitors Pockets..." Does your website talk? If you said no, you could be losing a small fortune everyday... Audio has the ability to make your website make you 300 MORE money, and now you can add audio to your website in 5 minutes flat... and never pay a monthly fee! Dear Friend, If you are like most people marketing anything on the internet, then chances are you rely heavily on your website to close the sale for you. The big problem with leaving all the sales to the quality of your website is that not all websites, or sales letters for that matter are created equal! Now don't get me wrong, I'm certainly not claiming to be a master copywriter, or website designer myself. In fact I dread trying to write sales copy as much as you probably do. I just sit down at my computer and just start telling the story about what my product does and how it can solve a problem the potential buyer may have. I try to first come up with a headline that grabs the readers attention. Is it going to reel them in? Heck I don't know, to be honest I haven't got the first clue! I'll give it a shot and if it doesn't do the trick I'll test some other headlines until I start seeing some sales. Sometimes, to be honest I just don't have time to read 150 pages about copywriting in some course. I just got this hot new product finished and I really need to just make a few sales to pay the bills I racked up creating it. I'll learn to write later when I have time. For now I am just going to go for it, and keep my fingers crossed... Do you think this way with your websites? Now the problem with this, is that many times I have put thousands of dollars into developing a new product, only to find it does not sell worth beans. I am sure you have done the same thing as many times as I have. Now I have my new website up, I've written the sales letter. Now I am going to start advertising like crazy (more money down the drain if it does not close) and the sales will start rolling in right? WRONG! Boy was I wrong in a big way....Two Thousand in development, another $ 2k in advertising.... Number of sales = 4 Is this due to no one having any interest in my product? I hope not, I thought it was a great idea when I first started developing it... My guess is more times than not it is my sales letter that is not closing the deal. Maybe it does not describe the product effectively. Have you ever read a sales letter only to ask your self half way through it, "what are they selling here?" or just plain gotten so bored you stopped reading after the first half page? Now if your like me you can not afford to spend between $5,000 and $15,000 to have a Michael Fortin, or a Dave Vallaries write your sales letter for you. Your going to either have to settle for a cheap copywriter that will probably not get your point across, or close any more sales than you will.... Or you can sell your product with streaming audio.... Hummm, stream audio huh.... that sounds technical, and I have a hard enough time even putting up a website. Well it does not have to be, not anymore anyway... Now You Can Get Your Message Across Loud And Clear! "Website Audio For Newbies", software can now do your selling for you. Yep, you read that correctly, you will no longer have to put so much of the weight of your conversion ratio on your sales letter, or the look of your website. Now you can let "Website Audio For Newbies" do the selling for you. "Website Audio For Newbies" is super simple to use... Step 1 All you need to do is plug your microphone into your PC, choose a name for your audio message, hit the record button and start talking! Yep, it's as simple as that.
