No longer the need to watch TV and try to remember what was done, only to find you forget what you are doing half way through and ruin what should have been a great meal for someone special or to entertain family and friends. Once again showing that it looks great on TV or when they show you, but when you get into the kitchen and try to create it from memory or from trying to balance a book and try to imagine what the Chef was trying to tell you... Well stand back, because the answer is here and it's going to blow you away! Imagine getting an "Audio CD Package" where you open it up and inside the Front Cover is a "Mini Cookbook" which contains all of the recipes starting each one with a list of the ingredients. The "Mini Cookbook" easily fits into your shirt pocket or small handbag to carry to the store with you. On the top of each recipe are clear easy to read ingredients so you can pick up the items needed for the recipe you choose for that evening. All are done in the colors of the Italian Flag for easy reading! Once you have picked up the items required you take them home and prepare the items as indicated in the "Mini Cookbook" and the Audio Cookbook. So at this point you prepare all the items before starting to prepare any of the recipes, this means any items diced or chopped etc. are prepared and measured and ready to go for when you start the actual preparation of the meal. This is where the magic comes in, as the Chef walks you through each step of the cooking process and you can pause at any time to stay in synch with him. But this is only half the fun, as he also tells exciting stories throughout the recipes, telling where they came from and much more which is pure entertainment in itself. And that's not all, there is also wonderful music which touches some of the story backgrounds and then entertains as well... When nearing the finish of each of the recipes, the Chef also advises on final presentation preparations and Wine recommendations for each! So! From start to finish this is an exciting way to learn to cook or improve your versatility in the Kitchen, and anyone can do it! From start to finish you are going to enjoy listening to the Audio Cookbook for years to come, and with each new CD in the Series, you build up and become the Master Chef yourself. You are sure to impress your friends and loved ones with all the new dishes you will learn. This Cookbook is not only fun to use, but it is great to listen to and enjoy all the music and stories with family and friends. Bon Appetite!
