Sounds like Lisa Loeb on an exotic world tour penned with heartbreakingly sincere Paul Simon storytelling from the innocent lips of prepubescent Jewel. 5 MP3 Songs POP: Pop, FOLK: Alternative Folk

Show all album songs: Ubah The EP Songs Details: Who is Ubah Im a feminist in a thong bikini, a student in this human experience, a giver and taker, a lover. Winning, failing, learning, creating. Often flawed and often magnificent. I represent the working class, the blue-collars, the injured and insulted. I want to pour love onto every inch of the human surface. Where Am I From I was born in Copenhagen, Denmark to immigrant parents from Somalia. I was raised in Stockholm, Sweden and worked as a dishwasher for a convalescent home during my teens. I also worked as a journalist for a youth magazine. I sang at every talent show in my high school and have been a song writer from an early age. I moved to the Americas seduced by capitalism and blossomed into an NFL-watching, Starbucks-guzzling, Holiday-celebrating gal. I finished college and started singing outside of the shower. Here I am.

"Reminiscent of Paul Simons Graceland period, Ubahs songs have an exotic ambiance and world-music sensibility that are deftly tethered within a pop structure. Ubah is both sensual and ethereal, but also projects a depth that is, at times, heart rendering. This artist brings something totally new to the scene.

-Bernard Bauer- Music Connection Magazine "The Soil' is a song that embodies the best of what music can be, it has touched me to tears. Thank you luv, for your beautiful self, your inspiring music, and meaningful lyrics" -YAZ, BROOKLYN-NY "Your voice music have struck a chord w/ me. Truly."
