Classic group interaction and stirring jazz melodies in the traditions of Grant Green, and Kenny Burrell with elements of the modern greats like Jim Hall and Pat Metheny. Kiyoshi Kitagawa- Bass, Eric McPherson- Drums w/ special guest James Hurt- Piano 8 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Traditional Jazz Combo, BLUES: Jazzy Blues Details: The debut recording for Will Sellenraad, coming on the heels of the closing of one of New York's finest jazz clubs, Visiones. It was there during the mid-1990's that Will held the house gig for several years, During which time he developed a great musical rapport with fellow native New Yorker Eric McPherson and Kiyoshi Kitagawa. Streams is the fruit of their incredible musical kinship, also featuring the artistry of gifted pianist James Hurt, courtesy of Blue Note Records. About the band: Eric McPherson's drumming is the fire by which respected artists such as Jackie McLean and Abraham Burton have choosen to set their music ablaze. A virtuoso of syncopation, he is truly one of the great drummers of this generation. Kiyoshi Kitagwa is one of the most dedicated and respected bass players to have hit the New York Scene in the last 10 years. His swingin' and rock solid rhythms have graced the stage with Jazz royalty such as Kenny Garrett, Jimmy Heath, and Kenny Barron.
