Seven pibrochs are featured, composed between 1537 and 1747. musicscotland.com some of the best tunes in the pibroch repertoire... Theres an understated elegance to MacPhersons playing that is mesmerizing. Piper Drummer Magazine Between 1948 and 1990, whenever Donald MacPherson stepped onto the platform a hush fell. His mastery set the benchmark of excellence in Highland bagpiping for 60 years, and this recording is without a doubt his finest. Despite his infrequent attendance, Donald broke all records at the premier piping competitions by winning first prize on most of his visits. A precision engineer by profession, he was never a keen performer nor self-promoter and recordings of him are rare. On this disc he champions pibroch, one of Europes great instrumental traditions. Sophisticated and soulful, these compositions have been transmitted aurally since the seventeenth century and are considered the test of a pipers genius.
