KIDS/FAMILY: Children's Pop, KIDS/FAMILY: Sing-Along/Interactive Details: Miss Lindsay (Lindsay O'Neil) Miss Lindsay has been instructing dance to toddlers for a number of years with Creation Station, a Los Angeles-based dance studio that caters to young dancers ages 18 months to 8 years. Her dance training started at age 3. She later studied and performed with MercerArt Dance Company, touring to New York twice and to many locations across the Northwest. Her teaching experience spans ages 18 mos. to 18 years in both theatre and dance. While teaching dance and theatre to children she learned she was full of potential as a songwriter and performer for kids! It was combining her love of dance music with her admiration of young minds that led to this debut album! Originally from Seattle, Lindsay is a graduate of the University of Southern California's School of Theatre and Thornton School of Music where she obtained a BA in theatre with honors and a minor in Musical Theatre. Lindsay has performed in theatres all over Washington and Southern California, including the Starlight Bowl in San Diego. Lindsay is an on-camera and voice over actress, as well. Recent jobs include the voice of Spacy Traci in the animated pilot Go Girl. Rachael Lawrence (Album Co-Writer) Rachael was born in La Jolla, California where she discovered music very early in life. She began playing piano at the age of three, and soon after found her love of singing and performing. Continuing her studies in the arts, she decided to major in Theater at the University of Southern California. Since graduation, she has been working in the arts in many capacities. She is a Seth Riggs Certified Speech Level Singing instructor, having worked with notables such as Sara Rue (Less Than Perfect) and Rick Fox (The Lakers). Rachael has also written a number of musicals for Garry Marshall's Falcon Theatre and has been the musical director there and in a variety of other venues. Rachael is an accomplished pianist and singer. She has performed in many arenas around Los Angeles, including The Hollywood Bowl. Rachael is also co-founder of PerfectTune Productions. People who are interested in Hannah Montana should consider this download.
