Jazz vocals on the "noir" side. Sort of like Humphrey Bogart meets Michael Franks at Quentin Tarantino's house. 13 MP3 Songs JAZZ: Jazz Vocals, JAZZ: Swing/Big Band Details: Mark Winkler doesn't just sing his engaging, Raymond Chandler-esque jazz noir compositions, he lives them. On his new release, Tales From Hollywood, Winkler pays homage to a Hollywood both real and imagined. Full of shadows and the fantasy of hard-boiled detective movies, his tales bring to life the gritty reality of his hometown and the colorful characters who inhabit it. Winkler, a seasoned songwriter, has been perfecting his craft for well over a decade. He has 8 critically acclaimed solo CDs to his credit, in addition to penning songs for Dianne Reeves, Nancy Wilson, Randy Crawford and Liza Minnelli. On Tales From Hollywood, Winkler makes the most of his talents, whether it's his casual yet seductive vocal sound or his catchy melodies and lyrics. Co-produced by Dan Siegel and Joe Pasquale, this sophisticated and infectious new release features hot saxophonists Boney James and Sam Roney, keyboardist Freddy Ravel, guitarist Grant Geissman and session superstars John Robinson, Jai Winding and Neil Stubenhaus. This wry, nostalgic look at the not too distant past will undoubtedly be at the top of the Male Jazz singer sweepstakes. "...a true stunner" -The Denver Post " As close to Bogie and Bacall as you can get without renting a grainy black and white video" -Seattle Times "A finely crafted record, Tales From Hollywood will be a welcome addition to the contemporary music scene" -Goodtimes "Top Ten Jazz CDs of the Year"- LA Jazz Scene
