School for the Dead can't seem to sit still. On "The New You" they plough through genres like a dinosaur ploughs through palm trees. Super tight quirky pop, campground lullabies, new wave, moving ballads, a country hoedown, space rock, and what have you 13 MP3 Songs POP: Quirky, ROCK: Emo Details: A guy named Henning (that's his first name) writes and sings the songs in School for the Dead. That's primarily what one needs to know about this band. In fact, Henning, Just recently won the WRSI (one of Rollingstone's Top 10 Radio Stations) Singer Songwriter Contest. Yay. Members of School for the Dead have been in bands with and/or recorded with such luminaries as Mark Mulcahy (Miracle Legion), Chris Collingwood (Fountains of Wayne), Lloyd Cole, Joe Pernice (Scud Mountains Boys, The Pernice Brothers) and Tao Rodriguez-Seeger. Bands that members of SFTD have been part of include The Maggies, New Radiant Storm King, The Aloha Steamtrain, The Mammals, The Gay Potatoes, Lo Fine, The Figments, King Radio, Spanish for Hitchhiking, The Tea Lights, and Humbert. With that information, the savvy reader will have discerned that SFTD is based in the Northeast. Yes, that is the case. School for the Dead has shared the stage with Freedy Johnston, Mates of State, Of Montreal, J. Mascis, Fountains of Wayne, Martin Sexton, and Ivy among many others
