Details: Darren Stone was born in Virginia in high school is an r&b singer best known for his romantic ballads started singing at age five. With a world of talent and big dreams, fueled by the artists he look up to like R.Kelly, Aaron Hall, Johnny Gill, Keith Sweat, Bobby Brown, New Edition, Donnie Hathaway. "He always imagined that he could be what he wanted to be, he just hoped that he could do it," says the humble Stone. Making an album is about recording the songs you love," Woman inspired him to write songs. By the time you get to performing them, it's about putting that out on stage and expressing yourself physically through your voice." "I want to show people I'm just a great r&b singer every day is a learning experience when you're in the music industry. I just jumped in head first and delved into everything it's another stepping stone for me. Perhaps the most amazing fact is hes been able to stay one step ahead of the game by being true to himself. It's the basis of my music for this album, he says. It's all dealing with the aspects of relationships, mostly from a woman to a man, but whether it be your homies or whatever. I want to bring R&B back to what it used to be, where if a guy couldn't fully express himself, he would play one of the songs that was out at the time if he wanted to apologize, if he wanted to say I wanna make love tonight or let's get back together, or even I don't wanna be with you anymore. Nobodys saying that now. No one is celebrating the women like they're supposed to. I got it covered. It has such a groove to it but the message is going to catch everybody off-guard the ride to it. realized that his talents came to him naturally, his growth and acceptance of these gifts. I feel like this is what Im supposed to be doing. Im supposed to be at this place in every aspect of my life, from personal to business. This is where I am, this is where I chose to be. As a self-described old-soul, I've always been that way, Im just able to express myself more and I have time by myself instead of everybody always being in my ear. When you have time by yourself, you can see and analyze things for what you think they are. Attitude and approach remain focused on the goal of longevity and happiness. As you grow, you learn more about yourself and come upon things that touch people adding what makes me happy most is that Ive changed lives. Im in touch with my soul. Your soul is what carries you and that was the realist thing I could find that I could relate to people with. And then truth just comes from what I stand for and me not ever wanting to take for granted that God has given me a gift to be who I am and stand for just that, and thats a gift too." I see God in everything. Maturing and accepting who he is becoming is the greatest gift Mario could have ever given to himself. Talks earnestly of following my dreams and being in love with music, .
