Frank's debut album is an exciting variety of R&B, Rock and Blues with a hint of traditional roots, featuring superb Hammond, piano and guitar from this eclectic singer/songwriter. 13 MP3 Songs

BLUES: Rockin' Blues, FOLK: Political Details: Frank O'Hagan is a Glasgow-born singer/songwriter who plays Hammond organ, piano and guitar. His main influences are Bob Dylan, Van Morrison, Hank Williams and Steve Winwood. His songwriting is also influenced by his Irish heritage and this results in an interesting variety of R&B, Rock and Blues with a hint of traditional roots. Although Frank is still a full-time lecturer, he has managed to create his own record label and release a number of well-crafted, original songs. A number of his songs have been influenced by his academic interests, particularly in History and Civil Rights. There is an education link on his website hapaxmusic.com.
