Details: "His gift for picture music is the common thread running through it, his earlier works sounding more like soundtrack music and his later works moving into more ambient realms, though still with a strong sense of imagery" Phil Derby Editor Publisher Electroambient Space. Bruno Sanfilippo has been a musician producer of contemporary electronic music since 1991. He was born in Buenos Aires, Argentina in 1965 later and moved to Barcelona, Spain around 2000. Bruno became a Music Professor in the Galvani Conservatory in 1988 and founder of the label ad21music ten years later. His discography consists of the albums: Sons of the light [1991] The New Kingdom [1995] Solemnis [1998] Suite Patagonia [2000] Visualia [2003] Indalo (with Max Corbacho) [2004] ad Libitum [2004] Anthology 1991-2004 [2005] InTRO [2006] Piano Textures [2007] Ambessence piano drones (with Mathias Grassow) [2008] auralSpace [2009] He has well as contributed to several compilations and also collaborated on other projects with Byron Metcalf and Alio Die. Through his contemplative music the intention is to transmit something other than emotional stimulus or simple entertainment. It obsesses itself with a search through different things - the amazing, the magical and the deep. In dreams, theres no imagined thing thats too absurd, too strange Bruno Sanfilippo's music comes from that inexhaustible and shameless source.
