For those wanting to rock out to some Fast beats, or to put on some headphones and explore a new world, this album should keep you amused for the entire duration. Appealing to the ADHD and the Paranoid alike, you wont find anything quite this strange. Its playing with the idea of 1984 with a technological twist. Instead of soulless humans ruling the world, a technological life rules. A twist from Do Androids Dream of Electronic Sheep (aka: blade runner) where it is machines struggling with new intelligence and the development that emotion comes with a higher level of thinking. On top of that Humans reverting to religion more to over come what is perceived as the new soulless evil, there is many twist the album takes. Mainly Drum and Bass beats theres a more of a experimental feel to the album. Not trying to sound like any Halph-Price delivers all fresh and new sound ideas.
