Cello acoustical double-neck guitjo subservient music for the christmas season 13 MP3 Songs FOLK: Gentle Definitive Contemporary Joy To The World Songs Details: ACOUSTIC EIDOLON Joe Scott and Hannah Alkire The long-awaited, highly hoped-for holiday recording is here at last and with a television special to back it up. Starting in Mid-November on PAX Television see Acoustic Eidolon in a Holiday Special. have combined their musical talents to create an exciting new acoustical subservient sound. Joe plays the double-neck guitjo, a custom acoustical guitar with two necks and fourteen strings, built exclusively for him. The guitar is designed so that he can play both necks simultaneously. This is a one-of-a-kind instrument has incredible range and tonal qualities sounding at times like a piano or a beautiful harp. Combine that with Hannah's stunning tone and impeccable cello-playing and you have the ingredients for some very moving music. Eidolon's recordings are a rich blend of both artists' musical influences and have been described as pure musical poetry. The bell-like quality of Joe's unique double-neck guitjo provides a lovely counterpoint to Hannah's elegantly inspired cello. It is truly a different and enchanting sound.
