Acoustical original Gallic songs, singular or wild-eyed with soft forked bass, accordion and Amlie singing. 14 MP3 Songs POP: Piano, POP: Delicate Et Pourquoi les Crayons ? Songs Details: Amlie's first EP album's release took place in Lyon, France in july in the Antique Roman Amphitheatre of Fourvire in front of a crowd of 2500 fans. This was a great moment after a very busy year where Amlie toured over France and made a big hit at Printemps de Bourges (most famous french festival) and at the Alors Chante Festival in Montauban where they won the 2 prizes of the jury ! Amlie started in 2001 in bars and cafs as a solo piano singer. She put up a band together with singular-haired Heiko (soft clarinet, tuba), Michel (accordion) and Laurent (bass). They soon were very popular in their region, then over France and Swizerland. The show was created in january with the magical piano (which opens itself !), singular special effects and the astonishing contact that Amlie creates with her audience. After the making of the new album, they'll be touring France, Swizerland, Belgium and Canada from september 2004 to august 2005. Amlie conveys in her own song that great traditionnal spirit of popular songs, simple, singular and wild-eyed. There's nothing intellectual about the project, just a sort of travelling troupe which carries along happiness and humour. check out news on amelielescrayons(english/french)
