Trip Hop, Experimental, Goth with an organic blend of natural and dark electronic sounds 11 MP3 Songs
POP: with Electronic Production, ROCK: Goth Details: Think of a latterday sister sound to traditional Roky Erikson, or Alien Sex Fiend covering Firestarter. That is in the wilder moments, but when it cools down and the generators stop humming, you have a trip hop Bauhaus at plays with some vocal Rozzisms undeniably peaking through the dope-stained curtains. At times its a pureed Stereo MCs, at others its aborigines from outer space, all done in a muffled, welcoming dance stance. Sometimes it gets irate, and goes for Squarepusherstyle bleepisms, but these are no copies, just his beautifully hypnotic templates of what is, to a large extent, the common currency worldwide, which makes it all but instantly accessible, if not necessarily that demanding. P. Emerson Williams once said, Ill not be satisfied completely until I manage to tear time and space into ribbons and unhinge the minds of humans but then Pop Idol came along and noone gives a fuck anymore. Thats what living in Florida does for you. Softens you up. Makes you relaxed. Creates an album that is gasp wildly inoffensive!!! And dont forget, that the man is also a talented artist so when you investigate the website theres plenty to impress.
