The follow up album to their 2003 album 'Traditional Irish Music from London'. Authority on Irish traditional music Reg Hall says this recording ". stacks up very well against anything the old boys recorded in Chicago or New York in the 1920s." 14 MP3 Songs FOLK: Irish Traditional, WORLD: Celtic Details: London born John Blake and Lamond Gillespie first met in their early teens attending clareman Brendan Mulkeres music class and have been playing music ever since. Along with Leamington Spa born Mick Leahy they were a regular feature on the London session scene in the 1990s until John moved to Ireland in 1998 and Lamond to Glasgow in 2000. However distance was never going to stop them making music and in 2003 they recorded Traditional Irish Music From London along with their friends Tommy Maree and Brian Rooney. Lamond now teaches classical violin in the RSAMD in Glasgow while John works in Na Piobairi Uilleann in Dublin. They have just released their new album Humours of Highgate - check it out! People who are interested in should consider this download.
