My new guide reveals the dirty little secrets they don't want you to know Friend ask yourself a question - if you get your own web site, how come your e-mail address is "average-joe@hotmail.com"? Well I'll tell you so listen up good! They just charged you $100 or whatever to join their latest scam and all they did was enter your details into a little script that runs off their own web site. That's right they gave you a "URL" - that's simply a web address that leads back to their own site and it will cost them not 1 cent to set you up! They're taking your money and it's 100 profit for them not you. There ruining your hopes and dreams and they're ripping you off. They won't dare give you an e-mail address that's linked with their domain name because they are going to teach you how to sell their scam to others using "bulk e-mail" and guess what bulk e-mail is? It's SPAM! Here's the secret of... How to quickly & easily avoid the pain & discomfort of product development Sell someone elses product! You simply identify a bunch of products that are related to each other in some way. You put up a web site so as you can capture the email address of your visitors by offering them something useful. You set up an autoresponder follow up series that lets you market your products to them forever for free! Set up your first product, then move on and set up the second product and so on. You simply build up your products one after the other and you collect email addresses right off your own web site and you market to them for free! Think about it, how many bars of soap does your local store sell? You see not everyone likes brand x, but some will. Some will prefer brand y, so you sell both brand x and brand y! In fact you look after your customers, you go out and find two more brands, you test them then you tell them all about how this new one you found contains special herbal extracts that help keep your skin looking younger. And because you have been collecting the email address off your beauty care products web site, you know that when you send out your latest discovery to your list, some of them will be interested enough to try it!
