Get at us on my space now at MYSpace.COM/BREAKINRECORDS Break-In-Records started putting their musical endeavors together in 1995. Starting with only two people, The Great Randino and Mr. Onpoint, they would create a group called Tha Chozen, based out of Houston, Texas. Starting with a $400 dollar Dr. Groove Beat Machine and A $300 Yamaha DJX Keyboard they started putting together songs on a 4 track to make an album. Lyrical Stages Level 1 was put out in 1999 on cassette and sold throughout the streets of south Texas. Selling a couple hundred tapes, they started to collect the money to buy more equipment and improve the sound of their music. In early 2000 they came out with their second album Lyrical Stages Level 2 released on CD-R. Again they sold hundreds of copies and started to really get their name out in the streets. As time passed they recorded more and more songs and began collaberating with other artists and producers who were trying to get their name out in the street as well. This was a big jump to Tha Chozen as it expanded their name and credibility. Now in 2006 with a couple of new projects in the making and a newly released album from Mr. Onpoint titled Entrepreneur: Part One, Break-In-Records has started to really grow and establish itself as a company. With more and more projects on the way including the new solo My Time Has Come from The Great Randino and Extra

Sensory Perception from Stabanokorl the newest member of the company, so be on the lookout for big things to happen. Their music is ultimately based on Hip-Hop and brings a new and fresh sound that hasn't been discovered yet. The styles relate much to life in it's general aspect. Tha Chosen, originators of Break-In-Records will be pushing a very new perspective to the Rap game bringin a new dimension to the table. Be on the look out for new names, new styles and a whole lot more music. Break-In-Records is the click, I hope you ready for it!!!
