Bluegrass Details: Bluegrass music has been a vital part of our heritage and culture in the Carolinas for many years now. The Charleston-based bluegrass band, YeeHaw Junction, is keeping the tradition alive and strong in South Carolina's Lowcountry and throughout the region. YeeHaw Junction's band members have been playing music in one form or another for most of their lives, and have played bluegrass music in a number of bands over the last several years. YeeHaw Junction Bluegrass Band was formed in 1999 and they are gaining momentum quickly. Stringed instruments are the core of any traditional bluegrass band: Gary Payne on banjo, Kristen Meierer on stand-up bass, Jeff Meierer on mandolin, and Stephen Schabel on guitar. Their hot picking and smooth harmonizing will provide an all-acoustic treat for any bluegrass fan. Following are excerpts from a cd review by Mark Pantsari, a reporter for the Post and Courier: "YeeHaw! A chance to catch some real bluegrass" "YeeHaw Junction is more than familiar with the sprite picking and tight vocal harmonies of traditional bluegrass"
