Email Extractor Overview Atomic Email Hunter is a very flexible online email extractor designed to harvest email addresses and user names from the web sites you define. The email harvester is easy to use. In most cases all that is needed to get results is to enter a valid URL or type several keywords in the search bar. Click the "Watch Demo" button on the right to see the email extractor in action. With our email extractor collecting email addresses is as easy as using the Internet search engines. Type in your target keywords and Email Hunter will find the top ranked pages directly from Google (or other search engines you choose) and then will search those pages for emails. Our keyword search is a unique and useful feature that does not exist in most other popular email extractors. Our email extractor can harvest more targeted email addresses when you search through one or several websites focused on one niche. Email Hunter provides a variety of filters for scanning web pages, for example you can set it to include only pages that contain certain words like "contact", "about us", "feedback", etc. You can limit the scanning depth and paths. Atomic Email Hunter Full License is a very fast email extractor that supports multi-threaded spidering. The email collector requires very little machine resources and can run quietly in the background on any PC connected to the Internet.
