STORY BY JORDAN LEE: "Back in the late 1960's, after the gig, my first R&B band(The Soul Aces) headed out to Cayce/West Columbia, South carolina on Saturday nights for the best tasting hamburgers on earth, a place called WHAT-A-BURGER, believe me they were great! With a musical backdrop it was thrilling to savor the taste of a 'Basket Burger Combo' with fries and a milkshake while listening to some favorite oldies including songs like... Petula Clark's 'Downtown', Santo Johnny's 'SLEEPWALK' The Ray Charles classic, 'Hit The Road Jack', and 'Sukiaki song, the great #1 instrumental Japanese hit which is still one of my all-time favorites. Years later, I thought of how cool it would be to re-record some of those classic standards in digital, plus add in a few of my own to mix it up and create a kind of unusual Eclectic CD; I called the idea - MUSIC MILKSHAKES MOTOWN, a mix of Old-time rock, classical with a unique taste of Motown! THE MILKSHAKE FACTOR: To find a local Mom Pop Old Fashioned hamburger drive-in, where they still serve steaming hot Onion Rings, Burgers, homemade cole slaw, and REAL milkshakes is rare, but worth the hunt, there's still a few around... Music is always the crowning touch! SO HERE'S THE DEAL!!! Find yourself a hometown (old-fashioned Mom Pop) drive-in, place an order and escape to another time zone with songs like, Downtown, Sleepwalk and My Guy and Hit The Road Jack... ...Or consider this: REAL home-made milkshakes are best with some backyard grilled sirloin burgers w/swiss cheese and mushrooms. (TIP: a few drops of Real Vanilla Extract and banana slices makes the perfect milkshake.) Gotta go, getting hungry... Keep it simple!" - Jordan Lee
