With these hard core beats and his lyrical saavy, this poetically powered p 6 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Spiritual Rap, HIP HOP/RAP: Hardcore Rap Details: Outspoken a.k.a. Kendrick T. Wallace was born on a cold Michigan night in the city of Flint on November 10, 1975. It was on that day that his mother Sonja Wallace realized she had someone special. Outspoken was raised on the north side of Flint where the atmosphere was sometimes friendly and thriving, but for the most part kids in this era were highly-competitive and manipulative which made it difficult to deal. But there was a song in Outspokens heart that overpowered anything else he encountered, the joy and love of music. It was just something about the way the words intertwined with the beats that made music something worth grabbing on to when times were rough. Outspoken could be sure that no matter what happened his mom would be playing some gospel music like (The Winans, Andre Crouch, Larnelle Harris and Walter Hawkins). As he would listen to these groups he would often experience changes in his mood, feelings and in his attitude, changes for the better. At the age of 10 years old Outspoken knew that this is what he wanted to do, make music. He could see himself making the kind of music that would change people's feelings and lives for the better just as the music he had been listening to had done to him. Once he was asked in Sunday School to find a creative way to display his love for Jesus, in 15 min. Outspoken came up with a rap. When it was time, they displayed their skit the church was silent, no applause, no comment even his mother took him in the back and told him how embarrassed she was with him. This was a crucial blow to his self-esteem but it was also a Prophetic glimpse of the future GOD had in store for him. But as he grew older he began to experience different kinds of music. Rap was his favorite and the more he listened to it the more he became interested in it and knew that this was his style. Even though most of the rap music he listened to was a bit negative he was still intrigued by the way it all sounded and came about. From thoughts to concepts to songs, this was his love. Outspoken was not invincible though, around the age of 14 the negativity of the music he loved so much came to fuse with the anger inside of him. This anger was due to the fact of his unstable home life around this time. Life was rough for a while and as the tension built so did the seriousness of his dream. Others might have thought things were good with Kendrick because he was a college athlete and he had family support. But the real struggle was on the inside. Kendrick's music had started reflecting the life he was living and starting to effect him in negative ways. For a moment there was no limit to living for him and this was the most dangerous time in his life. Outspoken knew that GOD wanted something different for him and he wanted to change his life. Even though his music was not really negative it was not what GOD wanted. So one day he gave up and decided he was willing to give up everything to roll with Jesus. But GOD told him that he gave him the gift of speech writing and rapping for his glory not to glorify the works of the devil. And since then it's been on! So check out this project and see how GOD has been glorified in the form of Rap by his Prodigal Son; OUTSPOKEN!
