BLUES: Texas Style, BLUES: Rockin' Blues

Details: What an awesome experience going to Austin, Texas for 6 months. The Bozzio's were so wonderful having me stay at there beautiful home outside Austin. Waiting for Chris Layton (Stevie Ray Vaughan's drummer of Double Trouble)to come off touring with Buddy Guy....Finally some recording could begin. It was like magic the whole thing.

Everything fell into place only after it fell out of place over and over again. Ev Bozzio and I were once again convinced of the higher power taking over. Things lined up the way it was suppose to. I had to extend my stay to finish the project. The final results I listened to on the plane leaving early the next morning. Getting into the Mixture Studio's, a private studio run by Mark Younger-Smith. Who use to play and write songs with Billy Idol. He was amazing as an engineer too! Great person to work with. Alex Sarabia played bass and was so polite and knew just what I wanted. Hunt Sales who played drums with David Bowie's Tin Machine and Iggy Pop. Hunt was the man of the hour when it came to recording King's Ransom. He got me to rewrite the lyric's while he layed down some bass and guitar after giving it his Chicago blues style beat on the drums. He rearranged and produced this song and made it great!!! Thank you Hunt!!! When you all listen to Luke Cutchen's guitar playing there is no stopping this kid. I was lucky to be introduced to him. His playing had me rockin' in the control room. He played every cut like it was his own song. He truly gave Change of Luck it's sound and flavor. I hope to record with these guys again.

Meanwhile I love to dance to this CD. Living in Pahoehoe, HI. I am grateful for the internet as a medium to meet all of you. Please give a listen and take a few minutes to write a review and e-mail me. I would love to hear from you. I sing from my soul to you. Much Aloha Chrissy Well I decided it was time to update. I am presently working with Tony Lupino an awesome guitarist. We are looking to complete our band in the next few weeks. Tate the bass player will jam with us at Lola's in Hilo this Saturday. I am running an add looking for a drummer. We have a great gig coming up in the fall at a festival in Kona. David Kawika Marquez is the promoter. I am excited to be out there giging. I would really love to go to New Orleans for that Voo Doo Festival the end of October. There are so many places to go to play. What a life. Meanwhile back at the ranch. I just wrote a new song called Holy Ground. I hope to do some more recording later this year. I will keep you all posted. Until later. Chrissy Aloha Thank you for buying my CD. I wish there was more I could do for the people on the Gulf Coast. I appreciate that CdBaby has made the arrangements to have the money given to the Red Cross. I won't be going to the Voodoo Festival. The footage I observed on Fox and CNN was mind blowing and heartwrenching. What really amazes me is the world stepping up to the plate to help. God bless everyone.
