Details: Cincinnati, Ohio-based folk/Americana/country band formed and fronted by singer-songwriter Mark Utey. The stylistic starting point for this project is Appalachian folk music: where it came from (Celtic and British folk), what it originally became (old-time string bands, early country and folk), and the genres it spawned (bluegrass, country and western, americana, alt.country). Drawing from the deep well of American music, Magnolia Mountain takes these different genres, finds the common thread within, and translates them into their own original songs that both pay tribute to the past and carve out their own place in today's musical landscape. Magnolia Mountain is known for their warm, accessible songs, stellar musicianship, and trademark 2-and-3 part close harmony vocals. Magnolia Mountain was a 2008 Cincinnati Entertainment Award (CEA) nominee in the category of "Folk/Americana".
