These hot spots include Fez, Tunnel, Joe's Pub, China Club, Eighty-Eight's, Meow Mix, Life, Barracuda, Bowery Bar, Salon at Flamingo East, Pyramid and Starlight. His overseas gigs include the Jersualem Theatre in Israel and Club Plastic in Milan. ARI GOLD's self-titled debut is a funky smooth blend of R&B, pop, soul and dance. From the the Peaches and Herb meets Babyface ballad Write Me A Love Song, the garage groove of Give Me All Your Love, to the smooth, sultry sound of See Through Me, all of these songs are sung with his signature soulful stylings. The CD also includes the original mix of the underground dance hit, "Wave Of You." as seen in Boys Shorts 4 now playing at a cosmopolitan area near you. Gold wrote, arranged and produced these songs with many established producers and musicians in the music business including Gary Hosse who toured with Chaka Khan and played on Maxwell's debut, Nick Morach who has written and produced songs on Vanessa Williams' The Sweetest Days, Daryl Hair who has written material for Phyllis Hyman's last recording and Steve Skinner who coproduced Bette Midler's From A Distance and was also nominated for a Grammy for co-producing the soundtrack for Rent. Except for Just A Little Love, which features a real gospel choir, all the background vocals are arranged and sung by Gold. Currently, Ari has been keeping busy collaborating on new material with legendary songwriter/producer Desmond Child who has scored hits for Ricky Martin, Bon Jovi, Aerosmith and Cher among others. Ari is also the featured vocalist on the forthcoming single from UK sensations DJ Luck and MC Neat. The single "I'm All About You," which Ari co-wrote with Luck, Neat and Desmond Child, is heavily influenced by the garage-two-step movement that is currently all the rage in Europe. "I'm All About You" released on Island Universal debuted in the top 20 on the UK pop charts. The video was heavily played and requested on MTV and The Box. In conjunction with the single Ari performed on practically every major TV and radio show in the UK including, Live And Kicking (CH. 5), T4 (CH.4), Radio One Big Sunday and Top Of The Pops (BBC). Ari Gold has been singing professionally since he was six years old. An accomplished child vocalist, Ari was chosen to play the lead character in a CBS Children's Record production of Pot Belly Bear: Songs and Stories - the album sold platinum. For years afterward, just about every time we heard a child's voice on television or radio, it was Ari singing. His many commercials have included: My Buddy, M&M's, McDonalds, Toys R Us, Lays, My Little Pony, Chevrolet, G.I. Joe, Duncan Hines, Burger King, Gatorade, Jell-O Pudding Pops with Bill Cosby, Lite Brite, Transformers and Coca-Cola among others. Ari's versatility as a jingle singer and voice-over artist led him to play every age, nationality, and even gender; like when he played an eight-year-old Vietnamese girl on the now-cult cartoon series Jem and The Holograms, and a tomboy named "Sybil Sadie" on two Cabbage Patch Kids records written by Harry and Tom Chapin. Ari also sang on the Hands Across America record as well as back-up vocals on Diana Ross' Swept Away. Aside from his solo career, Ari has lent his songwriting and production skills to other artists. He keeps company with Diane Warren and Stephen Bray as a songwriter for 80's teen-scream Tommy Page's new album. He also wrote and produced the song Home on #1 Billboard Dance recording artist Kevin Aviance's critically hailed album Box of Chocolates on Wave Records. He recently scored a top 10 Billboard dance hit with "I'll Be Here by " by Automgagic featuring Nashom. Backstage said that "Ari Gold is well on his way to a serious pop career" and Next magazine calls him "the Babyface of the gay scene." He was recently named one of the nine hottest men in NYC by H/X magazine and Genre magazine named Ari one of the "Men We Love" of 2002. Ari's sophome CD Space Under Sun will be released fall 2003.
