As an adult, she moved back to the piano where she found greater freedom to express herself. She currently lives in the Pacific Northwest with her husband and two dogs. Rhonda's piano compositions are largely an expression of her personal journey. She takes inspiration from her spiritual life, special relationships and the beauty and mystery of nature. She has often been told her music "paints pictures" and "tells stories". Her musical influences include George Winston, David Nevue, Dan Fogelberg, Dougie Maclean, Bach, Teleman and Celtic folk music. She has written original music for weddings and her music has been requested for use by dance and skating choreographers and massage therapists. It is currently being played for slideshows by a professional Northwest photographer.
