East coast undaground with a little midwest vibe cross between lox and jay z and joe budden 17 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: East Coast, HIP HOP/RAP: Rap Details: Aiight yall, Instead of startin1 this off like my name is blah blah blah..... I think I'll tell just tell you who I. am briefly to introduce my self to everybody who doesn't know me. My stage name is Jay-Five which is just coincidence that my initials are J F so don't think I planned it out like that., actually, I've been getting' called that since 4* grade. My life started out crazy I was born in Pennsylvania near Pittsburgh but moved to Brooklyn, New York with my uncle Johnny where I lived until I was five. At age five I moved with my Grandparents to Warren, Oh where I currently live where it was a constant struggle....Sike we had struggles like every other middle class family in the hood I grew up in. We weren't super rich or nothin' but we weren't dead broke either, I dealt with the usual stuff every teenage kid goes through but I kept a clear head and held it down. I was a bit of a clown in school, but I did manage to graduate a year early with 2.9 GPA (c/o 98 baby). My message to you is stay in school it helps. . Aiight, time for the interesting stuff. I started rappin at age five just making the words I knew rhyme (my first flows were stupid but it paid off later). At age ten ray God brother Kev started this group called E.O.Z, that I was part of and he actually wrote my first rhyme I put on wax because I didn't know how to write rhymes yet. I loved to do music. We did a couple talent shows in Farrell, PA and around Warren, OH, but after a while the group fell apart. So like at age fifteen I started writing my own lyrics (and the first ones were trash but every emcee has the stage where rhymes are trash I had to start some where. After that I started doing little open mic sessions then I hooked up wit two of my closest dudes Tim Cayson (Chill) and Vince Alien (Shady) we used to freestyle in my garage for a few years back in like 1993, We became a group called the USUWAL SUSPEXX in 1998, We performed in a talent show and took second place which got us $300 and that's when everything got real serious.

Shortly after the show we hooked up this local group called the UndaWorid, they invited us to open up for Devin the Dude and we did a few shows with them. Me personally I've done the intro to my dude's radio show on 88, 1(WZIP) DJ CHILL. I came second place in rap search and I am currently the reigning freestyle champ of 2002, due to a contest held by the IB/MC at Kent State University Trumbull Campus in Warren. I've done just about everything. As of right now I am doin' my thing reppin the PPF Family and I wanna say when we get on. It's on.....for real. So to everybody that held me down and kept me focused thanks, and to everybody that's hatin "eat a you know" Don't hate the playa Hate the Game.....Holla Jay-Five
