

Mp3 Spoonface & Wah Syndicate - Whole Heap Ah Wah

DOWNLOAD HERE

Its straight up jazzy broken beats meets reggae experimentalism with a dollop of soul for good measure. 13 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Broken Beat, AVANT GARDE: Experimental Details: WAH Syndicate Who Are They? When And How Syndicate, What After Heaven Syndicate, Wednesday Ain't Happening Syndicate, White African Heritage Syndicate, Willow And Hemp Syndicate, Whips Are Heavy Syndicate, Wooo Aaah Hooo Syndicate What ever they are, they are not just a story surrounding a 3-letter acronym. The project started by accident one fine summers day which turned into almost a week of spontaneous writing sessions from which the album was born. WAH Syndicate are Elroy 'Spoonface' Powell', Philip 'Floor Fillah' Craig and guesting artist Michael 'Kaspa' Gosling, all in it to flip it' and make the music they make for fun frolics and pure sonic fornication. All from comparatively varied musical backgrounds they collaborate to create a truly eclectic combination of reggae-tinged-Jazz-matazz-hop-dance-movery. If there is such a genre. Although they follow no particular trend, WAH Syndicate provide a fresh new take lending itself well to the genre bending Broken Beat scene. Their music is packed with ideas that flow seamlessly, allowing the ideas and personalities of the individuals to surface. 'Slow your Roll' is a classic example of how they form a cohesive, inviting musical patchwork quilt embracing the most varied audience. Spoonface's reggae sing-jay hookery combined with Philip Craig's solid Jazz sensibility offers something for all to take away for the liking. Look out for their hot remix for defected artists Lisa Millett and DJ Spen and much more... People who are interested in should consider this download.
