Andromeda's original music blends the flavors of americana, gypsy, tango and others. The members play with classical precision and the improvisational spirit of jazz 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Modern Folk, JAZZ: World Fusion Details: Andromeda's members (Evan Harlan on accordion, Andrew Blickenderfer on bass, Ima Jonsdottir on violin and Adam Larrabee on banjo, guitar and mandolin) have performed throughout the world and in some of the most prestigious venues/festivals. The various artists and ensembles with whom they have appeared include: Luciano Pavarotti, Bjrk, Bruce Hornsby, Dave Douglas, Bela Fleck, Dave Holland, and the Iceland Symphony Orchestra. These and other groups have taken them to the Tonight Show w/Jay Leno, the MTV Music Awards, the Kennedy Center, Carnegie Hall, the Hollywood Bowl, Place d'Arts in Montreal, and the Sydney Opera House. Andromeda themselves have played numerous venues in the Northeast including a 2003 run of Snow in June at the American Repertory Theater in Cambridge, MA. The group specializes in house concerts, which provide an alternative to noisy clubs, but are more informal than concert halls.
