Details: This is Raffaella Luna's wonderful voice debut recording, where she sings alongwith one of the greatest guitar acoustic representative into the international scene, Franco Morone. Selected tunes gather songs which are emotionally and historically representing a generation as the Dylan's 'It's all over now baby blue', 'Forever young' and the Pete Seeger/Joan Baez's 'Where have all the flowers gone', or the beautiful Joni Mitchell's 'A case of you'. Enchanting tunes from Belcanto repertoire as 'Caro mio ben' and 'Plaisir d'Amour' are wisely emboied. This Cd includes most recent songwriters arrangements too, like 'Caledonia' by Dougie MacLean, 'All the diamonds' by Bruce Cockburn, 'My name is Luka' by Suzanne Vega, 'Cinema Paradiso' by Ennio Morricone. A repertoire where all of the tunes are arranged by Franco's personal touch in an unmistakable sound, using open tunings alongwith the sweet and passionate Raffaella's voice merging altogether in a suggestive music of the spheres. Meeting with the playlist, there are also some original tunes, consistent in principle with all the others, giving witness to a mature acoustic and traditional music character. Like all the precious and hidden things, Raffaella Lunas voice has not as yet been discovered by the general public but, if you listen at her for the first time, you will have the feeling to be in front of a genuine talent. After having attended to song-schools at Bologna and Roma, the meeting with Franco Morone makes possible a growth leading her to the first performances in Europe, United States, Japan, along with the great italian guitarist..."..a beautiful voice... sweet, passionate, with a pinch of natural nobility.. a celestial mixing, bright and balanced, dreadfully evocative... The debut album Songs We Love will be brought out this year in tour around Europe and the most important Italian traditional and acoustic music festivals.
