Alternative Rock, Folk, Pop 12 MP3 Songs ROCK: Folk Rock, FOLK: Folk Pop Details: "to my future" is a harmonic and strong musical work by Hjortur. Hjortur plays all the instruments and at the same time he gives the album the variation so there are lot of things to discover in each song. Sit down, relax and make yourself comfortable with this album! "This is a collection of guitar-based songs; whilst there's a synth here and there, it is not an overtly electronic album in the way that Humanize (album by Hjortur, 2000) is. This album is in a largely pop style, seemingly taking its inspiration from the last four decades of pop music, as well as American folk music. "Hey, Hey, Can You Hear Me?" sounds rather more influenced by 80s soft rock, a genre that's often pretty sickmaking, but Hjortur's version of this style is excellent and this track is amongst my favorites on here. "Humanize" is reinvented here as a guitar-pop song, a bit 60s-tinged, and another favorite of mine. "No Matter What" is a sophisticated slow ballad, which is followed by the upbeat and catchy "Where Ever You Are" . "Wedding" sounds equally influenced by American and British folk music, as well as prog (in the guitar solos) and of course pop. The album finishes appropriately with "Goodbye", a laid-back yet very catchy piano/guitar based song. These are only a few of the superb, well crafted songs on here". - Kim Harten, Bliss Aquamarine (UK) Visit hjortur.dk for more!
