Traditional Hawaiian, Easy Listening, Acoustic 11 MP3 Songs WORLD: Native American, WORLD: Hawaiian Details: This CD is a blending of voices in traditional harmony, masterfully weaving melodies of both traditional Hawaiian and original songs. An added bonus is two instrumental tracks and light-hearted "rap" track, that makes this CD exceptional, especially since it was self-produced by the artists themselves. High on the slopes of Haleakala, in Haiku, Maui at Ululua Studios, with the ingenuity of Jake Roehrer behind the recording, this CD was born from a deep love of the music in the islands. Original songwriter "Lei" and her two sisters, Lahela and Ulu, make up this group that started under the "Banyan tree" in Lahaina, in association with the arts and craft fair sponsored by the He Ui NaKupuna group. Having written a PSA for the art fair, and singing for it on weekends, many encouraged the sisters to make their own CD. After two years of weekend recording, a lot of patience on the part of Ululua studios and constant encouragement from friends and family, this was the result of their efforts. The CD has 6 original songs and one original song donated to the group by LeiOlu Ryder, a close, dear friend who is also an acclaimed recording artist of Ululua Studios. Listening to this CD will take you back to both traditional Hawaii and the Hawaii of today.
