Are videos hard to make? That is usually the first thing people think about when I talk about video blogging - are videos hard to make? Well guess what - theyre not, and the fact that everyone else thinks they are means you have less competition and your videos look extra special as you did all this hard work to make a video. All you need are some simple tools and then making video is as easy as can be, I love it, it saves me a ton of writing, I get to connect with my viewers more and I can redirect people where I want them without even having them click my links! In Video Blogging Cash I tell you everything you need to get going so you can be set up in no time at all and producing your own videos, and Ill even reveal my secret of how to get people through your affiliate links without having them click anything! Do you have your own blog yet? If you really want to make money online then you need to have your own site at the heart of everything you do - and using a blog makes things so much easier! Blogs are powerful, the search engines love them, you dont need to know html to update them, and you can set posts to publish in the future so you can load up lots of content then dripped it out! (I love that feature!). Creating your own video blog or vlog is the next step to help you supercharge this already powerful platform and gain more traffic, make more connections and make more money! In my guide Video Blogging Cash I tell you exactly how to set up a video blog and get it making money (in fact I show you the 6 top ways you can make money with each vlog you make!).
