An original piano solo, played from the experiences of my life, recorded on a wonderful steinway, in an acoustically perfect hall on a rainy day in the pacific northwest. 7 MP3 Songs NEW AGE: New Age, CLASSICAL: New Age Details: "it is musics ability to carry you directly into the mental state of the composer, not the way your used to thinking, not the way your used to feeling, but like this.." -immortal beloved1994, We communicate, and it is such a powerful thing to be able to say what is on your heart and have someone understand. It is the foundation on which all relationships are built. But as close as we come, and as much as I say, am I ever really sure that you understand how I feel? It's the reason we say that a book, or a movie, or a work of art means different things to each individual...its filtered through our experiences and takes shape in our consciousness colored by who we are. But it is the very nature of music that allows it to penetrate through the mind untouched, and reach right down to the essence of who we are and say; 'hi my name is Bryan Beadle and this is what it feels like to be me', not with words but through music. That is what I love, and have always loved about this artform, from the first time I picked up a clarinnet, to the time I put down my saxophone to sit at the piano, it has been the same. To say it so eloquently, so truthly, so nakedly and without pretense, surely a thing like this is worth spending a life on.
