sea.mine's unique and widely appealing sound is best described as a cohesive blend of its parts. With influences ranging from the Smiths, REM, Pearl Jam and Wilco, sea.mine is a truly intelligent crossover indie-pop band. sea.mine was born in Seattle, 14 MP3 Songs POP: British Pop, ROCK: Emo Details: Does anyone else miss the Cold War? LE (Limited Edition), was created by sea.mine's own hands for their loyal and passionate fans. This LE includes the Greedy remix of the track Deny from "Divorce Letters" EP as well as Where Horses Dream and Shine Alone. These 3 tracks will not be on the official label release of "Does anyone else miss the Cold War?". sea.mine is: Ian Bell - Vocals Guitar principle songwriter Scott Teske Bass James Allan Drums Tonya Siderius Keys Formed in 2005 sea.mine released their first EP Divorce Letters in September 2005. Receiving some attention and airplay from KEXP Seattle and KUGS in Bellingham, record sales were solid and shows frequent. Critics of the Divorce Letters CD found sea.mine refreshing. Four the five tracks on Divorce Letters were licensed for nationally syndicated television shows. Work on their debut full-length record, Does Anyone Else Miss The Cold War, began in February 2006. Josh Evans an assistant engineer with Pearl Jam brought them to Seattles legendary London Bridge Studios. Recorded in just eight days in early April, Evans was able to capture the live spark that sea.mine communicated on stage with the majority of the recording done live. Evans and Greg Williamson engineer and co-producer of Sunny Day Real Estate and The Fire Theft, as well as Jeremy Enigks two solo releases, created the mixes both bringing out the sound that is uniquely sea.mine. Jeremy Enigk upon hearing the material was inspired to participate in the project. Enigks vocals can be heard on the single Me and My William as well as another track on the forthcoming release. sea.mines, Does Anyone Else Miss The Cold War, is sure to have a profound impact on pop alternative and the AAA audience.
