Terri Rivera Piatts CD was chosen as a runner up in the world category by the John Lennon Songwriting Committee. Her music is also featured in the Barbara Cook Documentary "Metis currently she is working with Max Dashu Suppressed Histories Archives suppressedhistories Real Women, Global Vision to add chants to Max's DVD on womens suppressed histories. Terri Rivera-Piatts (Sings with Ravens) background is Pima, Aztec, Chilean and Irish. Growing up in Idaho, she was influenced by the Pow-wows held at the nearby Shoshoni-Bannock Reservation, there she would listen for hours to the beat of the drum that would pierce her very soul and tell her of things to come. She also spent time working as a young woman in such beautiful places as Teton National Park and Yellowstone National park. She was taught by her grandmothers the ways of the curanderas and studied with Navajo, Hopi, Shawnee, Choctaw, Cherokee, Apache, Lakota, Irish, Aztec, Mayan, and Incan Healers. It is because of her studies and her rich and various ancestral histories, that her mission has become to help others rediscover (as she has) their own Indigenous Spiritual identities. She is known by many as a gifted psychic and curandera (a spiritual healer). She also hold many spiritual retreats all around the world.
