You will receive the graphics in .JPG and .PSD formats. Report Word Count is: 3,698 Words. Report Description: The point of this report is to help you streamline your approach to SEO and clear up some of the confusion regarding search engine optimization. With the information in this report, you can zoom past others in your niche and save precious time on your marketing efforts. As you know, search engine optimization is an important part of any marketing business. Without search engine optimization, your website will be floating out in the massive collection of websites out there without being found. Since search engine optimization is so important, it's definitely a topic of interest for many marketers. The only problem is that the frenzy over getting search engine optimization right has resulted in a lot of misinformation. In this report, you will discover 12 myths that exist about SEO. These twelve myths are so pervasive that you may be one of the many out there who believe they are true. Don't be fooled! By debunking these myths, and applying the variations suggested in this report, you can save yourself a lot of time and energy! Nothing is worse than taking a bunch of steps that you think are going to help only to have them be useless, or worse, they can hurt your search engine ranking!

Table of Contents:

Myth 1: Posting Comments on Big Traffic Blogs will Help Your Search Engine Ranking
Myth 2: You have to wait to complete certain steps of your backlink strategy until after a pagerank update
Myth 3: If I buy a domain with high PR on eBay and redirect it, I will get a boost in PR to my main domain
Myth 4: Content and PageRank go hand in hand
Myth 5: Google will penalize your site if you have too many backlinks
Myth 6: The Pagerank of your site helps determine where you will be in terms of the search engine rankings
Myth 7: Google cannot read non-textual content so there is no point in building a site in flash or java
Myth 8: You need dozens of backlinks in order to build a high PageRank
Myth 9: Reciprocal linking strategies are the way to go when it comes to building up quality PR
Myth 10: Build up a bunch of sites up to PR4 and then link them to your site. Voila! You'll have PR 10
Myth 11: My links pages will never get any PageRank boost because of all of the outgoing links
Myth 12: If I have a bunch of sites, I can link all of them to six sites and then all of those to three sites and eventually feed them into one site to increase my PageRank

Here is a sample extract from my PLR report:

-----xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx----- This means that any traffic that you are expecting to get from commenting on a related blog post just won't show up. Google doesn't follow nofollow tags, so the link in your comment will be completely ignored from the view of the search engine. You won't get any "Google juice" from a related blog if it has nofollow tags. In addition to nofollow tags, the other main problem with posting comments in order to get trackback traffic is that you have to be really careful about what you post. If your post is considered to be too spammy and self serving, the blog author will most likely delete the comment - meaning that you just wasted your time! It can be difficult to come up with ideas for insightful blog comments, especially if you are attempting to comment on many blogs that day.

You need to make your comments relevant to the blog post, which means that you'll need to actually read each and every blog post you want to make comments on. This brings us to another important point - time. When you are trying to use blog commenting as an SEO strategy, you'll want to
