Details: 'Reflections' is just that, a series of reflections on life and living. A wide range of styles, centering around old school R&B, and classic rock, with a spiritual tone, and with instrumentation always appropriate to the interpretation of the song's message.

End Up Where We Start: written immediately after reading a poetry book by Robinson Jeffers. This is about the circular nature of life, about discovering what we already know in our hearts.

Crazy 'Bout You: This is about the funny stuff we do when nobody's looking, and about how love opens us to the infinite possibilities.

In My Eyes: about misunderstandings, miscalculations, mistaken identity.

In My Heart: I spent 10 years writing this. It's about finding 'the one'.

Chain Reaction: This one's about how our loving words and actions create a domino effect that changes ours and others lives.
