The CMJ Top 40 record, mixing hip-hop, spoken word poetry, and indie rock. 14 MP3 Songs HIP HOP/RAP: Alternative Hip Hop, SPOKEN WORD: Poetry Details:  #38 on CMJ (College Music Journal) hip-hop charts! Just some of the press "Underground" has received: The album's radio success may owe something to the catchiness of tracks like "Underground," with a poignant chorus that backs up Reyes' spoken meditations on justice, and "Universal Thoughts," a jazz-inflected slow-burner in the vein of the groove-oriented, live-instrumentation hip-hop of Philadelphia's The Roots. Metroland - Albany, NY You know you're in for a good ride when a band namechecks influences like the Last Poets, Public Enemy and Rage Against the Machine and follows them with Emma Goldman, Malcolm X and Steve Biko. Broadcast Live is a Hip Hop collective out of Albany with a social agenda every bit as impassioned and revolutionary as their musical imperative. Dance and think. Citybeat - Cincinnati, OH "The activist mission that's at the heart of Broadcast Live becomes immediately apparent on both "Underground" and during their honest, energetic live shows..." Schenectady Daily Gazette - Schenectady, NY Stylistically, the album meanders from stoned rhymes and lazy beats to Casio-and-sax-laden 808 grooves, incorporating the titular anger of Rage Against the Machine, the coffeehouse funk of Ani DiFranco, and the by-any-means-necessary political bent of The Coup. The title track envisions what it might sound like if Wyclef Jean covered Neil Young's "After the Gold Rush"; "Universal Thoughts" fountains positivity over a laid-back R&B groove; "Slow Songs" pairs reflective free-verse with a washed-out Modest Mouse-like chorus. -Metroland - Albany, NY
