Very often, kids who play baseball and who are not considered to be very good at the game are relegated to right field. Right field is not the most coveted position in the game. But perhaps it should be. After all, some of the worlds best baseball greats played this position. In baseball, unlike other some other sports, players have to play both offense and defense. They have to be able to play one of the infield positions or outfield positions. Those who are good at pitching are pitchers and the catchers are usually good at reflexive moves and can send signals to the pitcher on what type of ball to pitch, based upon the stance of the batter. Infielders are considered better defensive players
